GENERAL INFORMATION KEYWORDS Marine medical certificate, mental health, psychotic illness, medication MH-0212-28 SECTOR (Marine or Aviation) SPECIFIC JOB DIAGNOSIS (Primary, Secondary, etc.) REVIEW DATE OF DETERMINATION MEMBER DF. Christopher Brooks DETERMINATION The member agrees with the Minister's decision. REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION Refusal to issue a marine medical certificate (MMC) — Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis of schizophrenia may have clouded the Minister's illness, medication MH-0212-28 SECTOR (Marine or Aviation) SPECIFIC JOB DIAGNOSIS (Primary, Secondary, etc.) REVIEW DATE OF DETERMINATION MEMBER DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION Refusal to issue a marine medical certificate (MMC) — Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis FILE NO. SECTOR (Marine or Aviation) SPECIFIC JOB DIAGNOSIS (Primary, Secondary, etc.) REVIEW DATE OF DETERMINATION MEMBER DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION REJUBU DATE OF DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION REJUBU Dr. Christopher Brooks The member agrees with the Minister's decision. Refusal to issue a marine medical certificate (MMC) — Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis SECTOR (Marine or Aviation) SPECIFIC JOB DIAGNOSIS (Primary, Secondary, etc.) REVIEW DATE OF DETERMINATION MEMBER DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis
DIAGNOSIS (Primary, Secondary, etc.) REVIEW DATE OF DETERMINATION MEMBER DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION REJUBE Refusal to issue a marine medical certificate (MMC) — Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis
DIAGNOSIS (Primary, Secondary, etc.) REVIEW DATE OF DETERMINATION MEMBER DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION DETERMINATION REJUST A Refusal to issue a marine medical certificate (MMC) — Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis
REVIEW DATE OF DETERMINATION MEMBER Dr. Christopher Brooks DETERMINATION The member agrees with the Minister's decision. REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis
REVIEW DATE OF DETERMINATION MEMBER Dr. Christopher Brooks DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION Refusal to issue a marine medical certificate (MMC) — Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis
DATE OF DETERMINATION MEMBER Dr. Christopher Brooks DETERMINATION The member agrees with the Minister's decision. REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION Refusal to issue a marine medical certificate (MMC) — Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis
MEMBER DETERMINATION The member agrees with the Minister's decision. REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis DETERMINATION REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION Refusal to issue a marine medical certificate (MMC) — Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis REASONS FOR THE DETERMINATION Refusal to issue a marine medical certificate (MMC) — Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis DETERMINATION Following two psychotic episodes and continuing mental illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis illness, Transport Canada made the decision not to issue the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis the applicant an MMC. The applicant is still undergoing very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis very active treatment, seeing a psychiatrist every three months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis months, and taking powerful medication after five years from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis from his initial hospital admission. The fact that his visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis visits and medication have not been reduced suggests that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis that his mental state has not shown clear signs of a complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis complete recovery to his pre-morbid condition. The member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis member is not persuaded with the argument of the applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis applicant's representative that a possible misdiagnosis of schizophrena may have clouded the winnster's decision, irrespective of whether the diagnosis was schizophrenia or an atypical psychiatric syndrome. In the applicant's case, with a history of two episodes of psychosis and the risk of recurrence, the member agrees with the Minister's decision not to issue him an MMC.
APPEAL
DATE OF DECISION
MEMBERS
DECISION
REASONS FOR THE DECISION
OTHER/COMMENTS
C COMMANDA 120